WELCOME TO OUR NEW MAGAZINE, ONE WHICH VISITS THE FOUR CORNERS OF THE WORLD

Read about what happened in the table tennis world since our last issue; not only about the World Cups for men and women but also the Asian Games and European Team Championships which witnessed the outstanding triumph of Portugal, the host country.

The Liebherr Men's World Cup is a wonderful event with a large following; more than 10,000 during were present over the three days with huge media coverage throughout the world. There were some great matches, especially from the African champion, Quadri Aruna, who left the arena to a great standing ovation after his superb performance.

He displayed talents and became embroiled in spectacular points; he is a player with great charisma.

Charisma is of course what our sport needs and Zhang Jike is by far the most popular Chinese table tennis player, owing to his personality.

Sport loves this kind of players, like tennis loved John McEnroe in the past but on the other hand, there is the limit between sporting charm and acceptable behaviour on how to celebrate victory. Damaging court surrounds crossed the line.

It is difficult to control emotions in the heat of a contest or when victory has been secured in a dramatic contest. I watched the match with my son and I had to tell him that such behaviour was not acceptable.

Top level sport sets the example; thus quickly the International Table Tennis Federation reacted by withholding the prize money of US$ 45,000.

Zhang Jike, to his credit apologised; the money will be allocated to a Fair Play Award; let us hope we never see a repeat. The matter is closed.

Undoubtedly, our sport needs players like Zhang Jike, Olympic and World champion; players with character, players the public loves to watch.

LIEBHERR MEN'S WORLD CUP

TITLE SECURED IN DRAMATIC FINAL BUT ZHANG JIKE PAYS PRICE OF SUCCESS

The winner in Paris three years earlier, Zhang Jike regained the Liebherr Men's World Cup title in the ISS Dome in the German city of Düsseldorf on Sunday 26th October. He clinched gold in one of the most dramatic finals ever witnessed since the tournament was first staged in 1980.

Occupying the second seeded position in the competition, he beat Chinese National Team colleague and top seed, Ma Long in scintillating final to arrest the title.

Zhang Jike, the master of the big occasion won in seven games (8-11, 11-4, 13-11, 7-11, 2-11, 11-5, 12-10) and celebrated in a manner for which with good grace he later apologised.

PRIZE MONEY WITHHELD

Overcome by the moment, emotional, he put his foot through two of the surrounds guarding the court; it was spur of the moment reaction and one which he regretted when the adrenalin flow had calmed in ferocity. The decision of the Jury is that he will not receiving any prize money for his actions.

"I am very sorry for what I did", said Zhang Jike. "It was not acceptable behaviour and I am sorry."

We all make mistakes and let us at least give some credit to Zhang Jike. I am not condoning his actions but it takes a brave man to apologise publicly.

The prize money that was withheld from the winner Zhang Jike at the Liebherr 2014 Men's World Cup for kicking sponsorship surrounds will go towards promoting fair play in table tennis.

Zhang Jike was deprived of his $45,000 prize money for kicking two sponsorship surrounds, part of the playing equipment during his celebration after defeating compatriot Ma Long 4-3, to secure his second Men's World Cup crown in Dusseldorf, Germany.

The International Table Tennis Federation (ITTF) Executive Committee proposes that the fine will go towards funding an annual Fair Play award, to reward players for their good will on and off the table tennis court.

ITTF President Thomas Weikert stated: "The ITTF encourages all players to show strong emotions when playing table tennis. Unfortunately Zhang Jike showed destructive and negative emotion after his Men's World Cup victory, which left the competition jury no option, but to fine him or to disqualify him which would have had the consequence not only losing the prize money, but also the title and the ranking points. We are glad that we kept his title, as it was a brilliant performance by the Olympic champion."

It is good that the ITTF to be able to reinvest the money that Zhang Jike was fined into rewarding fair play amongst our players, with an annual Fair Play award."

The man sanctioned, Zhang Jike was also pleased that his prize money was going to a good cause: "I am happy that the money will be offered to a Fair Play award. This will give a good example to the younger players."

UNDER PRESSURE

"This was a perfect victory, I have been under a great deal of pressure, with people questioning my form", said Zhang Jike. "I am now very satisfied and very relieved, I would like to congratulate Ma Long on an amazing final; we really put on a table tennis exhibition."

MAGDEBURG REPEATED

Gold for Zhang Jike, silver for Ma Long; it was bronze for the host nation's Timo Boll in what was a repeat of their contest four years earlier in Magdeburg when they had duelled for third place.

On that occasion Timo Boll won in seven games (11-7,11-7, 8-11,10-12,11-9, 9-11,11-7); in Düsseldorf it was one game less (2-11, 11-7, 11-8, 6-11, 11-2, 11-9).

"Despite being a left hand player, I always have had a problem playing a left handed player like me", said Jun Mizutani. "Against Timo Boll, I could not receive his service while his topspin was difficult for me to control; I am not happy that I am finishing fourth for the third time at the World Cup."

In addition to 2010, Jun Mizutani finished in fourth place in Paris in 2012; on that occasion he was beaten in the play-off match by Korea's Joo Saehyuk (11-3, 11-4, 11-9, 11-6).

MA LONG AND ZHANG JIKE BOOK FINAL PLACES, TIMO BOLL FACES JUN MIZUTANI FOR BRONZE

The top two seeds, China's Ma Long and Zhang Jike emerged successful at the semi-final stage of the Liebherr 2014 Men's World Cup in the German city of Düsseldorf on the morning of Sunday 26th October.

Impressively, Ma Long, the no.1 seed, accounted for Japan's Jun Mizutani, the no.4 seed [11-9, 11-4, 11-6, 11-7], before Zhang Jike, the no.2 seed, prevailed in a much closer encounter.

He overcame the host nation's Timo Boll, the no.6 seed, in a full distance seven games encounter [11-7, 5-11, 11-8, 16-14, 6-11, 6-11, 11-6].

ADAPTING TO NEW BALL

It was a testing time for Zhang Jike. "I am trying to adapt to the new ball because the sound is a bit different from the celluloid ball", said Zhang Jike. "I am not used to it but with time I will get used to it."

Zhang Jike will adapt; that is not in doubt and when crisis loomed he responded. "Playing against Timo Boll has always been tough because he is about the only player that always gives the Chinese a tough match", added Zhang Jike. "So it is a bit hard beating him."

TOPIC OF MOMENT

"The ball is a bit okay but I think there is big difference between this new ball the previous one", said Timo Boll. "The difference still has an effect but I think it is not a problem for me."

Defeat for Timo Boll but the German star was philosophical.

"The match against Zhang Jike was a great match especially playing in Germany", added Timo Boll. "It was fun but it was sad that I lost; I think Zhang Jike has the ability to win the title."

Most certainly Zhang Jike has the ability and had produce his best to beat Timo Boll; an impressive effort. One match earlier it had been an equally, if not more impressive performance from Ma Long.

PROBLEMS RECEIVING SERVICE

"Today I could not receive his service and this really affected me; whenever he was serving, he won points", said Jun Mizutani. "I respect Ma Long a great deal because he doesn't have any weak point."

Ma Long is noted for his powerful forehand but also from the backhand he is extremely safe and secure.

"His techniques in all the department of the game are very high", added Jun Mizutani. "I have played in two World Cup semi-finals; I thought I might do better this year; unfortunately, I lost to Ma Long. I will work hard and try next time."

Defeat at the hands of Ma Long and in the two previous penultimate round duels it was defeat against Chinese stars. In 2010 in Magdeburg he lost to Zhang Jike, in 2011 in Paris to Wang Hao.

FIRST GAME IMPORTANT

Disappointment for Jun Mizutani, it was a sense of satisfaction for Ma Long.

"I think this competition is okay because all the players have adapted to the new ball despite its difference to the old ball", said the victor. "Playing against Mizutani has not always been easy; it is always hard to beat him, the first game was very important because if he had won the first game, it would have been a bit hard for me."

Now a familiar face awaits. "I know a lot of people are looking forward to the final between Zhang Jike and me", concluded Ma Long.

Most certainly and it is most difficult to predict a winner.

JOURNEY'S END FOR QUADRI ARUNA BUT DEFEAT WITH HONOUR

All good things come to an end; eventually for Nigeria's Quadri Aruna his adventures at the Liebherr Men's World Cup in the Germany city of Düsseldorf terminated but it took the most successful player on planet earth to end his voyage of discovery.

The no.17 seed, he was beaten by China's Zhang Jike, the no.2 seed, the reigning Olympic and World champion.

Defeat but it was defeat with honour for the 26 year old African; he did not bid farewell without a whimper; he extended the 2011 champion to six games (6-11, 11-7, 11-4, 11-7, 8-11, 11-8).

NEW EXPERIENCE

“Initially I thought the game would end four-nil but when I won the first game I gained confidence; when we started he could not control my service but later his service was a bit difficult for me to control”, said Quadri Aruna. “Also, I made a lot of mistakes; I am happy that I played against the Olympic and World Champion and the game was so close.”

It was a new experience for Quadri Aruna.

“It was the first time I have played against a Chinese player and it was not one-sided”, added Quadri Aruna. “It is also a dream come true for me in this competition; beating three top players in a row is good for my career, I will continue to work hard with what I have been able to achieve at this World Cup.”

WORTHY OPPONENT

Pride in defeat and Zhang Jike was well aware he had beaten a worthy adversary.

“The match was very competitive; Quadri Aruna is a good player”, said Zhang Jike. “When he won the first game I did not understand his style but when we got into the second game I adapted and I started to win.”

REVERSAL OF FORTUNES

Success for Zhang Jike as the penultimate day came to a conclusion; there was also success for Timo Boll, the Men's World Cup winner in 2002 and 2005 and a reversal of fortunes. Occupying the no.6 seeded position in the draw; he accounted for colleague, Dimitrij Ovtcharov, the no.3 seed, in four straight games (11-8, 11-8, 11-5, 11-1) and thus reversed the result of one year.

At the Liebherr 2013 Men's World Cup was staged in the Belgian town of Verviers, Dimitrij Ovtcharov had overcome Timo Boll in five straight games (11-3, 8-11, 11-5, 11-5, 11-6) to secure third place.

LI-NING

ITTF WOMEN'S WORLD CUP

LOVE AFFAIR WITH LINZ CONTINUES, DING NING WINS WOMEN'S WORLD CUP

Winner of the Women's World Cup in Singapore in 2011, the only other occasion that she has competed in the prestigious annual tournament, China's Ding Ning repeated the feat in the Austrian city of Linz on the early evening of Sunday 19th October.

In Singapore, at the final hurdle, she had beaten colleague, Li Xiaoxia in the final in five games (11-9, 11-5, 7-11, 14-12, 11-9); in Linz she prevailed in four straight game(11-7, 11-9, 13-11, 11-5).

Third place went to Japan's Kasumi Ishikawa; she overcame Hungary's Georgina Pota in a contest that went the full seven match distance (11-9, 8-11, 6-11, 11-3,7-11, 11-9, 11-4) to secure her best ever finish in a Women's World Cup one her third appearance.

She made her debut in Singapore in 2011 but did not advance beyond the group stage; one year ago in Kobe she was beaten in the quarter-finals by Singapore's Feng Tianwei.

"It's been a really good experience..."

"It's been a really good experience once again in this city", continued Ding Ning. "I hope I can play in more tournaments here!"

SECOND MEETING

It was the second time that Kasumi Ishikawa and Georgina Pota had met in a World ranking event; on the one previous occasion success had gone the way of Hungarian but that was over three years ago in March 2011.

On the ITTF World Tour at the Polish Open, Georgina Pota had prevailed in six games in their second round Women's Singles encounter.

CROWD SUPPORT

Crowd support was very much on the side of Georgina Pota, the Hungarian capital city of Budapest being only some four hours by car from Linz.

Throughout the tournament the backhand counter topspin play of Georgina Pota had proved potent; it was that talent in particular which had guided the Hungarian to the concluding day of action. Conversely for Kasumi Ishikawa, a fast forehand top spin to follow the service or heavy top spin on the first attack was very much her formula for success; most certainly imparting heavy rotation on the ball early in the rally was vital if Kasumi Ishikawa was to succeed.

The contest went the full seven games, at the change of ends Kasumi Ishikawa led 5-2; it was a telling lead. Kasumi Ishikawa never relaxed the grip.

QUICKER TO ATTACK

A fine effort by Kasumi Ishikawa but the day belonged to Ding Ning, in the final she was the quicker to attack, she was the more incisive; the forehand top spin stroke in fluent motion; the backhand block as safe as the Great Wall of China.

"I'm delighted to be here in Linz, in Upper Austria", said Ding Ning who has very happy memories of the region; it was in Linz but in a different venue that she was crowned World Junior champion in 2005.

MASTERMIND, KONG LINGHUI GUIDES DING NING AND LI XIAOXIA TO FINAL

Guided by Kong Linghui, the owner during his career of every major title the sport has to offer, China's Ding Ning and Li Xiaoxia, the respective top two seeds, emerged successful at the semi-final stage of proceedings at the 2014 Women's World Cup in Linz on the afternoon of Sunday 19th October.

"It took a lot of effort to win."

However, both endured testing times. Ding Ning was extended to six games by Japan's Kasumi Ishikawa, the no.3 seed, (11-6, 11-3, 7-11, 9-11, 11-6, 11-7) before Li Xiaoxia defeated Hungary's Georgina Pota, the no.10 seed, in one game less.

Nevertheless, for Kong Linghui it was mission accomplished.

"I'm both happy and relieved", he smiled. "Now I can sit back and enjoy the final!"

CONSISTENCY LEVEL

Li Jiao of the Netherlands, who had suffered defeat against Ding Ning in the first round of proceedings, highlighted the major problem facing Ding Ning was that she did not miss.

The level of consistency in the play of Chinese women seems to increase with each generation; added to that factor is the ability to absorb the attacking play of the opponent and turn it to advantage.

Against Ding Ning, the task for Kasumi Ishikawa was to try to match that level of consistency against an adversary who is arguably a few degrees stronger in her attacking strokes.

KEEPING PACE

In the first two games she was unable keep pace with Ding Ning; in the third game Kasumi Ishikawa adjusted to the pace of the play.

She was more positive; she maintained the level to secure the fourth game and level matters, very much succeeding in the same manner as Ding Ning had succeeded in the first two games. Consistent, especially from the backhand with a rapid fire forehand on the first attack, when the chance arose the policy had proved the winning formula in the opening two games for Ding Ning; it was the winning formula for Kasumi Ishikawa in the third and fourth games.

UNDER PRESSURE

Under pressure, increasingly Ding Ning resorted time and again to her trademark squat style service; it did bring success on the majority of occasions but eventually the extra degree of consistency exerted by Ding Ning bore fruit. Kasumi Ishikawa was playing at the very limit.

Ding Ning was under pressure but the extra pressure she exerted with her high level of consistency prevailed; a brave effort from Kasumi Ishikawa but eventually it was the fact that in every department of the game, Ding Ning held the vital advantage, not a great difference but a telling difference.

AN EFFORT

"It took a lot of effort to win", said Ding Ning. "Initially I felt fine but in the third game Kasumi played more aggressively, much faster and I was not able to control the rhythm of the play."

The play of Kasumi Ishikawa moved up a gear.

"Certainly I felt challenged", added Ding Ning. "In the fifth game we were level at the start but then my blocking play improved and that made a difference."

ASIAN GAMES

FAVOURITE CITY, ONCE AGAIN XU XIN WINS IN INCHEON, ASIAN GAMES TITLE SECURED

Top spot on the World Ranking list retained, when the official order of merit was issued by the International Table Tennis Federation one day earlier; first position also applied to China's Xu Xin one day later on Saturday 4th October at the 2014 Asian Games in Incheon.

The no.1 seed, he won the Men's Singles title beating 17 year old colleague Fan Zhendong, the no.2 seed in the final in six games (11-6, 5-11, 11-13, 11-7, 12-10, 11-8), having overpowered the host nation's Joo Saehyuk, the no.8 seed, at the semi-final stage (11-2, 11-5, 11-2, 11-7).

A devastating penultimate round performance from Xin Xin, whose early timing and powerful forehand gave the Korean hero minimal time to draw breath.

Equally, in the impressive scale of victories, Fan Zhendong was not far behind his 24 year old compatriot. He overcame Chinese Taipei's Chuang Chih-Yuan without surrendering a single game (11-8, 11-9, 11-8, 11-7).

IMPORTANT PLATFORM

"This is an important platform for me to prove myself and move closer to my Rio Dream; hence this victory is really meaningful to me", said Xu Xin, who had sunk to the floor in emotion after recovering from a two games to one deficit to beat Fan Zhendong.

"The final was very tough both of us played at a high level; I think the most important factor lies in the crucial points and my mentality", said Xu Xin. "In the third game, I missed a game point and lost the game but I was able to adjust quickly for the fourth game; I believe that was the key to the victory."

THIRD MEETING

Success for Xu Xin and his second win on the international stage against Fan Zhendong in what was their third meeting.

In late November he was beaten by Fan Zhendong in seven games at the semi-final stage of the Men's Singles event at the GAC

Group 2013 ITTF World Tour Swedish Open in Stockholm but when the pair met again, he turned the tables.

Earlier this year in January at the GAC Group 2013 ITTF World Tour Grand Finals in Dubai, at the same stage as in Stockholm, he accounted for Fan Zhendong in five games en route to securing the title.

MISSION ACCOMPLISHED, MILESTONE WIN FOR CHINA, SUCCESS FOR LIU SHIWEN

Favourite for gold, top seed Liu Shiwen won the Women's Singles title at the 2014 Asian Games in Incheon on Saturday 4th October and in so doing fulfilled the goal set when proceedings in the table tennis events had commenced one week earlier.

Furthermore, the success marked a milestone for her country; it was no less than China's 150th gold medal of the Games.

In all Chinese final she overcame Zhu Yuling, the no.3 seed, in four straight games [11-6, 11-4, 13-11, 11-7] to secure the title in a contest between two of the most consistent players on planet earth in the art of close to the table counter top spin play.

"I kept telling myself to stay focused and fight for every point."

STRAIGHT GAMES WINS

Impressive in the final, both had been imposing in the penultimate round, securing victories without surrendering a single game.

Liu Shiwen ended Korean hopes by overcoming the machine gun like attacking play of Yang Haeun, the no.8 seed [11-3, 11-5, 11-1, 11-7); whilst at the same stage, Zhu Yuling upset the pecking order by defeating the more powerful Feng Tianwei of Singapore, the no.2 seed [13-11, 13-11, 14-12, 11-8].

MAINTAINED FOCUS

"I'm very excited to have won the title!" smiled Liu Shiwen after her success against Zhu Yuling. "I didn't think too much about the final score and I never thought that I would win four-nil; during the match, I kept telling myself to stay focused and fight for every point."

Two matches on the concluding day of play, eight games played, eight games won and only one by the minimal two point margin; impressive to say the least.

"I think I performed better than I expected in both my matches today", added Liu Shiwen. "I felt nervous during the past few days, especially in my team matches but today was the final day of competition and I could go all out to win."

NEXT GOAL

Success in Incheon, now Liu Shiwen looks forward. "After the Asian Games, as we are changing table tennis balls, I will be spending time adapting to the new balls", concluded Liu Shiwen. "My goal now is to qualify for Rio 2016."

The Rio 2016 Olympic Games had been uppermost in the mind of Liu Shiwen ever since she was not selected for the London 2012 Olympic Games; however, there are other major tournaments in the meantime, the 2015 World Championships will no doubt be high on the Liu Shiwen agenda.

TARGET REACHED

However, in Incheon it was mission accomplished as it was for Zhu Yuling.

"My goal for the Singles event was to reach the finals and I accomplished it; though I lost, I did my best", reflected Zhu Yuling. "She's very strong and I think there's more for me to catch up; her techniques are more advanced; her skills are better than mine."

Success for Liu Shiwen as seeding predicted in the final. It was also success as history predicted.

SIXTH VICTORY

It was the sixth time that the pair had met on the international stage; it was the sixth time that Liu Shiwen had won.

On the GAC Group ITTF World Tour, she prevailed in 2012 at the Harmony Open; then in 2013 in Kuwait and Qatar, before earlier this year succeeding in China. In addition, she won when the pair met at the semi-final stage of the Women's Singles event at the Liebherr 2013 World Championships in Paris.

TARGETS

She has won the ITTF World Tour Grand Finals, the Women's World Cup, the Asian Games.

Now in the next two years can Liu Shiwen add the World title, the Olympic title? That is the question.

EUROPEAN TEAM CHAMPIONSHIP

THE HERO OF THE HOUR, THE PRIDE OF PORTUGAL WAS MARCOS FREITAS

Amid scenes surely never previously witnessed in table tennis arena in Lisbon; Portugal won the Men's title at the TMS 2014 European Team Championships on the evening of Sunday 28th September.

After beating Steffen Mengel in the opening contest in three straight games (11-8, 11-8, 11-8), he overcame Timo Boll in the fourth match of the engagement (12-10, 5-11, 11-6, 11-9) to seal a dramatic, tensioned packed three-one success.

Sandwiched in between, Timo Boll had accounted for João Monteiro in the second match (11-7, 11-1, 11-8), before Tiago Apolonia gave the host nation great hope by defeating Dimitrij Ovtcharov (11-7, 11-2, 11-13, 11-9).

Success for Portugal, it was a reversal of the result early in the tournament when Germany had won three-one and a very different contest.

PLAYERS IN FORM

Two players in form, two young men who earlier this year have enjoyed success on the international stage and have imposed themselves on the World order, confronted each other in the first match of the final.

Steffen Mengel wore the colours of Germany for Portugal it was Marcos Freitas. Urged forward the passionate crowd approaching 2,000, the vast majority in support of the host nation, the top spin attacking play executed by Marcos Freitas

He won the first game and led 8-5 in the second; his consistency level grew and a rhythm to his play was established. A critical stage of match, Jörg Rosskopf, the German Coach called "Time Out"; Steffen Mengel reduced the arrears to one point but never gained parity.

TOOK RISKS

Two games to nil ahead, Marcos Freitas was in the ascendancy; Steffen Mengel took risks in the third game. Marcos Freitas went ahead 9-2, Steffen Mengel recovered somewhat to win the next three points, prompting Pedro Rufino, the Portuguese coach, to call "Time Out", the move being to stifle any momentum that Steffen Mengel may have been establishing.

Tension was clearly mounting in the Marcos Freitas body, he could see the winning post; eventually, playing consistently he succeeded.

The Master of Ceremonies announced in both English and Portuguese "Marcos Freitas three, Steffen Mengel zero; Portugal one Germany zero."

TIMO BOLL LEVELS MATTERS

An early lead for Portugal, matters were soon rectified by Timo Boll; close moments in the opening game but Timo Boll never in arrears, the German dominated the second and moved 5-3 ahead on the third.

Portuguese coach, Pedro Rufino called "Time Out", matters were looking bleak for João Monteiro; soon they were even bleaker. At 10-7 with mistakes few and far between from the racket of Timo Boll, the German held three match points at 10-7.

João Monteiro saved one match point but no more as the service changed to Timo Boll's turn. It was back to basics, when it's close do what you do well, Timo Boll did that; forehand service, move round the backhand, forehand top spin; good night.

INTRIGUING CONTEST

Matters level Tiago Apolonia faced Dimitrij Ovtcharov; notably earlier in the year at the DHS Europe Cup in Lausanne, the two met in opening match in the first stage. Tiago Apolonia emerged successful in a best of five games encounter but then never won another match in the whole tournament!

Later in a close seven games encounter at the semi-final stage of Men's Singles event at the GAC Group 2014 ITTF World Tour German Open, Dimitrij Ovtcharov had won by the minimal margin in the deciding game.

However, there was a further ingredient to add to the equation; Dimitrij Ovtcharov was not in the best physical shape, still recovering from dental surgery, whilst Tiago Apolonia was arguably not in the best of form.

EMOTION

Now for Portugal, Dubai awaits; they qualify for the World Team Cup next January and maybe for Pedro Moura, the President of the Portuguese Table Tennis Federation more moments of emotion.

The national anthem played, he could not hold back the tears, tears of emotion, tears of joy; the day belonged to Portugal.

BRAVE AUSTRIAN EFFORT IN VAIN, GERMANY RETAINS EUROPEAN WOMEN'S TEAM TITLE

Germany retained the Women's Team title won just under one year ago in Schwechat, Austria; when they beat Austria by three matches to nil in the final in Lisbon on the afternoon of Sunday 28th September.

Shan Xiaona beat Sofia Polcanova (5-11, 10-12, 11-4, 11-9, 11-7) to be followed by Han Ying who accounted for Liu Jia (9-11, 8-11, 11-8, 11-5, 12-10) and Petrissa Solja who concluded matters by defeating Li Qiangbing (11-4, 11-3, 11-9).

In the group stage, Germany had beaten Austria by three match to nil; it was the same result again but in a different manner.

SOFIA POLCANOVA CONSISTENT

Shan Xiaona gave Germany the start desired but she was extended the full five games distance by Sofia Polcanova, a player who has proved a most worthy opponent on this year's GAC Group 2014 ITTF World Tour.

Notably she won the Under 21 Women's Singles title at the first tournament of the year in Hungary and whilst she may not have recorded wins that are headline news; equally there have been no disasters.

Consistency has been a hallmark of her play and it was that level of consistency that caused Shan Xiaona problems; especially in the first two games when the Germany was clearly nervous and not able to find a rhythm to her play.

At the quarter and semi-final stages in Lisbon, he had played in the third position in the matches against both Russia and Sweden; on both occasions he had suffered defeats. In the former he lost to Alexander Shibaev, in the latter to Jon Persson.

A NEW MAN

Cometh a new day, cometh a new challenge, cometh a new Tiago Apolonia; full of energy, fast around the court he won the first two games, the second in dominant fashion. At 10-9 in the third he held match point; German coach Jörg Rosskopf called "Time Out".

Dimitrij Ovtcharov, saved the match point before holding game point at 11-10 and then again at 12-11; at the second attempt he converted. Memories of the contest one day earlier when Tiago Apolonia had surrendered five match points against Jon Persson flashed across the mind. Was it to be déjà vu?

It was not but one wondered at the start when Tiago Apolonia trailed 4-6; he won the next five points before the margin was reduced to 9-8 in favour of Portugal. There was a nervous tension in the air. Pedro Rufino called "Time Out".

The players returned; outrageous fortune for Tiago Apolonia; an un-returnable edge ball; two match points. Dimitrij Ovtcharov saved the first; then the MEO Arena erupted, 2,000 Portuguese on their feet in adulation It was advantage Portugal.

ELECTRIC ATMOSPHERE

An electric atmosphere pervaded the arena as Marcos Freitas and Timo Boll returned to the hall to do battle; scintillating rallies with Timo Boll leading 10-8 in the first before losing the next four points, advantage Portugal.

Totally focused Timo Boll returned to win the second game with a degree of comfort before in the third Marcos Freitas established a lead which was reduced to 9-6; Pedro Rufino called "Time Out". A shrewd move, Marcos Freitas won the next two points and then led 3-0 in the fourth game.

MORE DRAMA

Now, Jörg Rosskopf called for the break. Marcos Freitas moved ahead 5-1, Timo Boll levelled at 5-all. There was nothing to choose between the gladiators, at 8-all they were level, the stage at which the ball had cracked, it needed replacing.

Sheer drama, honours shared on the next two points then on the Timo Boll service, match point to Marcos Freitas. Sheer pandemonium; the chance converted, the roof lifted off the MEO Arena.

Portugal for the first time ever; success for host nation, Portugal proved worthy winners but great credit to Germany, in defeat they conducted themselves magnificently.

FAST ATTACKS

Winner of the Women's Singles title at the GAC Group 2014 ITTF World Tour German Open earlier this year; right handed, penhold grip, short pimped rubber, Shan Xiaona excels with fast attacking play from the forehand and angled blocks from the backhand to achieve success.

However, if early in the rally, the first attack is not driven fiercely, she can experience problems; against Shan Xiaona she experienced problems. Controlled top spin and subtle variations from the Austrian wrought errors from the German racket.

VITAL TIME OUT

Sofia Polcanova led 5-3 in the fourth game and by two games to one; it was a critical stage in the contest. Shan Xiaona, focused and determined, to her credit recovered; she secured a close fourth game to level. In the fifth game it was role reversal.

Shan Xiaona went ahead 5-3, Austrian coach Liu Yanjun called "Time Out"; alas for Austria the break did not have the same result as it had one game earlier for Germany. Shan Xiaona never relinquished the advantage; German held the early lead.

INTENSE DUEL

A hard fought contest; the second duel on court was no different in intensity, just different in style. The attacking skills of the left handed Liu Jia faced the technically very correct defensive attributes of Han Ying.

Over the years Liu Jia has experienced problems against those who extol the backspin art but if anyone has improved against that style of play, it is Liu Jia.

She does not have the artillery to overpower a defender in the mode of a Zhang Yining or a Li Xiaoxia, whose relentless top spin play eventually drills holes in opponent's rackets; Liu Jia has to find an alternative solution.

PATIENCE

Long points, variation, patience and wait for the key to unlock the safe; those are the qualities shown nowadays by Liu Jia in opposition to defenders.

Against Han Yin, those qualities won the first two games with Han Ying electing for "Time Out" when trailing 7-9 in the second game, a decision which was to work in favour of her adversary.

DEFENCE REMAINS FIRM

Trailing by two games to nil, Han Ying responded; the defence stood firm; she recovered to capture the fourth and fifth games as arguably the fact Liu Jia could not insert relentless pressure worked in favour of the Germany.

Moments of hesitation perhaps from Liu Jia, Han Ying recovered to win the third and fourth games; in the fifth game it was parity at 8-all, Han Ying won the next two points, to her great credit, Liu Jia saved both match points. However, she could not save a third. Han Ying celebrated, Germany celebrated.

CLOSE CONTEST ANTICIPATED

Two close contests, a third was anticipated; when the two teams met in the group stage of proceedings Petrissa Solja had beaten Li Qiangbing by the very narrowest of margins in the deciding seventh game (7-11, 11-7, 11-4, 9-11, 11-9).

In the final it was a very different story, it was only in the third game that Li Qiangbing really offered resistance. At 5-3 in favour of Petrissa Solja, Li Qiangbing elected for "Time Out"; she challenged Petrissa Solja but the advantage was always with Germany.

Matters progressed to 7-6 in favour of Petrissa Solja; German coach Jie Schöpp, not prepared to take any risks called "Time Out". It was a prudent move; at 10-8 Petrissa Solja held two match points; Li Qiangbing saved the first, not the second.

GOOD MANNERS

Petrissa Solja, raised her arms in the air; she politely shook hands with her opponents and officials before receiving the greetings of her colleague.

REACTION FROM JIE SCHÖPP

"The first match between Shan Xiaona and Sofia Polcanova was very important for us", said Jie Schöpp. "Both players were very nervous, but Shan Xiaona played at top level."

Delighted with Shan Xiaona; Jie Schöpp was understandably equally pleased with Han Ying and Petrissa Solja. "In the second match, Han Ying found herself in new situation at this tournament", smiled Jie Schöpp. "She lost two games; Liu Jia played really well."

Throughout the defensive skills of Han Ying have been solid and totally reliable; equally the attacking skills of Petrissa Solja have been most impressive. "Petrissa gave solid performance", concluded the German coach. "Our team proved they are in top shape; throughout the tournament they were at the top of the game."

Top shape most certainly; it was silver for Austria, gold for Germany, the title retained and retain in most skilled and professional manner.

Josep Antón Velázquez defends his "World's Best Table Tennis Trickshot" title.

"...it twice is something really unbelievable!"

Notes to the Editor:

The STIGA 2014 ITTF Trick Shot Showdown was launched on 3 June 2014 to find the world's best table tennis trick shot. Over the 4 months, the videos were viewed more than 1 million times on YouTube and Youku.

For his stellar performance, he has won a 4-day trip for 2 persons to Bangkok for the GAC Group 2014 World Tour Grand Finals, happening 11 - 14 December 2014. In addition, he walks away with US$4,000 cash and a one-year sponsorship from STIGA, a world leader in the sport of table tennis for over 60 years.

A notable mention goes to R. Ganapathi Subramanian, who came a close second with this amazing trick shot: <http://bit.ly/TSSSecond>.

"STIGA 2014 ITTF Trick Shot Showdown became, once again, a success for the sport of table tennis", said STIGA CEO Mats Bands-tigen. "A lot of really amazing trick shots from all around the World. That Josep Antón Velázquez became the winner once again is incredible! Congratulations Josep, we are really impressed!"

ITTF Marketing Director Steve Dainton added: "The Trick Shot challenge in its second year has again proven to be a fun idea. Thanks again to STIGA for their support and next year look out for some rule changes that will make it even bigger and better."

ITTF PRESS RELEASE

2015 WORLD'S BEST TABLE TENNIS TRICK SHOT ANNOUNCED

The STIGA 2014 ITTF Trick Shot Showdown has successfully concluded with Spain's Josep Antón Velázquez's entry being crowned as the world's best trick shot, the same title he won last year.

The second STIGA Trick Shot showdown was a huge success with over 60 people submitting their best trick shots, which together obtained more than 1 million views on YouTube and Youku.

Josep's winning trick shot, involves him serving a ball through a hole in a wooden plank, the ball then spins on a right angle towards the other side of the table, where Josep hits another ball through another hole to hit the original ball. It must be seen to be believed: <http://bit.ly/TSSWinner>.

Josep's amazing trick shot, gathered over 150,000 views, and the technical difficulty in execution impressed both fans and the ITTF Expert Panel alike by garnering 36% of the overall vote count. Fans' votes contributed 60% of the total vote count, while the ITTF Expert Panel scored the remaining 40%.

On his win, Josep commented: "I'm so glad, winning last year was really awesome but achieving it twice is something really unbelievable! I'm so happy and thankful to all the friends and people that have made it possible!"

Natalia Partyka will now have the chance to play in her 6th Paralympics at Tokyo 2020.

“The ITTF is extremely happy and proud to be among the 16 sports selected in the first round to be on the programme of the 2020 Paralympic Games in Tokyo...”

TABLE TENNIS INCLUDED IN 2020 PARALYMPIC GAMES

The International Paralympic Committee (IPC) Governing Board made the decision that Table Tennis will again be in the Paralympic Games during their meeting in Berlin, Germany on 7 October 2014.

On the decision, ITTF CEO Judit Farago stated: “The ITTF is extremely happy and proud to be among the 16 sports selected in the first round to be on the programme of the 2020 Paralympic Games in Tokyo. It proves the firm position of Table Tennis since the first Paralympic Games in 1960 in Rome.

The decision of the IPC Governing Board means that we successfully met the criteria of worldwide participation, athlete classification, anti-doping programme and others. Our integrated para Table Tennis competition programme involves over 3,500 classified players and yearly 20 international tournaments which surely will further increase in the period leading up to the 2020 Paralympic Games in Tokyo.”

Table Tennis was included in the first Paralympic Games in Rome 1960, and has been included in every edition since, which means that Tokyo 2020 will be the 16th time Table Tennis will be in the Paralympic Games.

Table Tennis also produced one of the moments of the London 2012 Paralympic

Games, with this amazing shot by David Wetherill: http://youtu.be/riR_SyvhB6s being seen by over 6 million people on YouTube alone.

The decision to include Table Tennis in the 2020 Paralympic Games comes right after the extremely successful ITTF Para World Table Tennis Championships, which was held last month in Beijing, China.

The event had 3 hours live broadcast on CCTV, which was seen by over 18 million people across China. The event also attracted 1.2 million impressions on Facebook, 153,000 on Twitter and TV news reports on several national TV stations, including BBC in the UK.

Joining Table Tennis in the 16 confirmed sports for the 2020 Paralympic Games are: athletics, archery, badminton, boccia, equestrian, goalball, powerlifting, rowing, shooting, sitting volleyball, swimming, triathlon, wheelchair basketball, wheelchair rugby and wheelchair tennis.

The Tokyo 2020 Paralympic Games will be held from 25 August - 6 September 2020.

Nigerian's Aruna Quadri continues his mesmerizing rise in international table tennis, as he has been listed as world number 30 in November's International Table Tennis world ranking.

This marks the highest ever ranking for an African table tennis player, which shows the rise of the continent in professional table tennis.

The historic ranking position for the 26 year old from Lagos, Nigeria, who now plays professionally in Portugal, comes on the back of an unforgettable LIEBHERR 2014 Men's World Cup, where Quadri made the quarterfinals.

On his way to the quarterfinals, the charismatic Nigerian beat world number 27 Kenta Matsudaira (JPN), world number 37 Alexander Shibaev (RUS) and world number 16 Tang Peng (HKG) to announce himself on the world stage.

The father of one was ranked a lowly 237 in February this year, so to rise so quickly to number 30 in the world is a testament to his extraordinary talents.

Upon hearing the news, an emotional Quadri stated: "It's just like am dreaming. When I saw the world ranking, I started to cry because I was so happy. All my hard work and motivation has turned the impossible, into possible."

Quadri was not the only Men's World Cup star to jump in the rankings. Marcos Freitas (POR) moves from 12th to ninth, Chen Apolonia (POR) from 17th to 13th and Tiago Chien-An (TPE) moved from 22nd to 17th.

Asian Games Champion Xu Xin (CHN) continues to lead the way at the top of the world rankings, with the runner up from the LIEBHERR 2014 Men's World Cup Ma-Long (CHN) moving into the second position. Youth Olympic Games Champion Fan Zhendong (CHN) drops down to third, above the LIEBHERR 2014 Men's World Cup Champion Zhang Jike (CHN) in fourth.

There were also some big movers in the women's rankings after a busy October. Kasumi Ishikawa (JPN), who finished 3rd at the ITTF 2014 Women's World Cup has moved from ninth to sixth, and Georgina Pota (HUN) who lost to Ishikawa in the third place play off has moved up nine places to a career best of 26th in the world.

Women's World Cup Champion Ding Ning (CHN) tops the world rankings for the second consecutive month ahead of her teammates Liu Shiwen and Li Xiaoxia who sit in second and third respectively.
